NEW CHURCH DEDICATED

Dedication of St. Patrick's Church a Brilliant Function.

BEAUTIFUL BUILDING PAID FOR

Banquet in the Evening at the K. C. Hall one of the Most Successful in City's History.

Wednesday October 19th was a great day for O'Neill. On that day was dedicated to the service of God and the salvation of men, the new church of St. Patrick. The event was not only notable in itself but is a remarkable proof of the wonderful growth and prosperity of the community.

The ceremonies constituting the dedication were the most brilliant and solemn ever seen in O'Neill, and were witnessed by more than two thousand people who came from all parts of Nebraska and surrounding states to take part in this notable function.

by Very Rev. Eugene Magevney S. J., who said in part:

The greatest thing in the world is the Christian religion. Man cannot do without religion, and does not do without it. If he finds no creed already made to suit him, he makes a creed for himself. He must have either Christianity or some substitute for it: because religion is absolutely essential to the human mind and soul. What is religion? It is man's answer to the riddle of the universe. We endeavor to explain the many mysterious facts and operations of Nature, and to reconcile the visible and invisible, the material and the spiritual, the natural and the supernatural, the human and the Divine. But the more we try to do this by means of reason alone the more hopelessly we shall grope in the dark.

We need Light. The great cry of the modern world is for Light! Some proud and haughty minds seek this light in philosophy alone, in Naturalism, in Materialism, in Utilitarianism, or in Hedonism. But there are things within and things without us which reason alone cannot explain. So phil-parish under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus; covers were laid for 300 ladies and gentlemen. Many distinguished laymen were present including Ex-Senator and Mrs. Kearns, of Salt Lake City, who came in a private car to witness the dedication of the church towards the erection of which he and his estimable wife donated $5,000.

After the coffee, Mr. John A. Harmon as toastmaster in a very happy little speech which put everybody at their ease, and in which the shafts of his wit flew in all directions sparing not even the dignified guests at the head table, introduced Hon. M. F. Harrington who spoke of the wonderful progress made by the people of O'Neill in all things, but especially in a religious and educational way. He paid a very high tribute to the personal worth and energy of the revered pastor, Father M. F. Cassidy, who has done so much for the people of O'Neill in the building of the churches and schools, without ever taking thought for himself. The speaker thought that since Father Cassidy had done so much for the sentiment was also applauded and approved.

The Rev. Father Cassidy was then called upon and in a voice trembling with emotion expressed his gratitude to his people for their whole souled cooperation with him in the many important undertakings which they and he had been enabled to carry to a successful issue. He was glad to announce that the new church dedicated with such profound and solemn ceremonies was entirely paid for, a statement which was a pleasant surprise to the majority of the audience and which is something almost unprecedented in the history of our state where almost every church is struggling with debt. It is a tribute to the great executive ability of our pastor.

Rev Bishop Garrigan of Sioux City responded to the call of the toastmaster with a few well chosen remarks and then Senator Kearns of Utah was called to the floor. He spoke feelingly of O'Neill, the home of his boyhood where he was accustomed to run barefooted over the prairies in the early days. He talked with emotion of his early associations with Father Cassidy and also with Father John T. Smith, former pastor and founder of St. Patrick's parish, for both of whom in his boyhood days he entertained a mixed feeling fluctuating between love and awe. He scarcely needed to remind the audience of his great attachment to O'Neill where he grew up in healthy poverty, his parents having nothing to give him in the way of material wealth, but how with the assistance of the good priests of the parish gave him something much better than material fortune, a sound spiritual education which together with a good physique and the opportunities afforded by a free country were all that any young man may desire for success. He spoke of the fact that his parents and brothers and sisters were interred in the little cemetery on the hill, that no matter how far his worldly affairs might call him and no matter what the vicissitudes of life might bring him, he would always remember O'Neill, its good priest and its warm hearted people, for one of the tests of the true man is to remember in the days of his success and prosperity the dear old friends and companions of his humbler days. The assembled guests were profoundly touched by the remarks of Senator Kearns.

BISHOP SCANNELL

The program of the evening closed with a few kind and fatherly remarks by Right Rev. Richard Scannell the bishop of the diocese. He expressed his satisfaction and approval of the ecclesiastical growth of O'Neill and in that conservative style well known to his friends he said he could not at that moment remember any priest of his diocese who had been more successful in providing for the spiritual and material welfare of his people than the Very Rev. Father Cassidy. He surprised the audience by telling them how close they came to losing Father Cassidy some years ago when the Bishop considered him too large a man for a small town like O'Neill, but that he was pleased to see that O'Neill had grown in the meantime so that it was now well worthy of the

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH.

Three bishops assisted by several of the leading priests of the diocese participated in the ceremony of dedication and pontifical high mass. These were the bishops present Right Rev. Richard Scannell of Omaha, Right Rev. Phillip J. Garrigan of Sioux City and Right Rev. James J. Keane of Cheyenne, Wyo.

In this ceremony the blessing of Almighty God was invoked upon the building and it was formally offered up to His service. When this ritual was completed the laity were permitted to enter the edifice which had been transformed from a mere pile of bricks and mortar into St. Patrick's Catholic church. Then began the celebration of pontifical high mass in which Bishop Garrigan was celebrant, Father J. T. Smith assistant priest, Father Carrol deacon, and Father T. F. Moriarty sub-deacon, and Father Stenson was master of ceremonies.

An edifying feature of the mass was the complete and well trained choir which rendered "The mass in honor of St. Louis".

While Rt. Rev. Bishop Scannell occupied the throne Rt. Rev. Bishop Keane and the following clergy sat within the sanctuary during the mass: Rev. Father Loecker, Father Jungels, Father Buckley, Father Harrington, Father Streetman, Father Crowley.

The solemn ceremony of dedication was performed by:
Rt. Rev. Richard Scannell... Officiant
Rev. J. Carroll... Deacon
Rev. T. Moriarty... Sub-deacon
Rev. J. W. Stenson...
.....Master of ceremonies
Rev. M. Dolan... Crucifer
Rev. J. Buckley... Aquafarius
Rev. Leo Blaere... Mitre bearer
Rev. B. Lordeme... Crosser bearer
Rev. J. T. Moore... Book bearer
Rev. M. Banongsgeest, Rev. J. Hettwer, Rev. M. Parrett and Rev. A. Helmes, chanters.

The choir was composed of the following: Mesdames C. E. Stout and P. J. Flynn; Misses Rose Fallon, Mae Campbell, Margaret and Lizzie Donahoe, Nellie and Margaret Brennan, Sue O'Donnell, Lenore Daly and Mary Condon, and the Messrs G. W. Smith, John Sullivan, Ambrose Biglin, Edward Campbell and Martin Kane. Miss Loretta Sullivan presided at the organ while Dr. G. Sturdevant accompanied on the violin and Miss Scott on the cello.

FATHER MAGEVNEY'S SERMON.
The dedication sermon was preached osophy is inadequate to furnish complete light. We need the light of faith. Faith, Christian faith alone gives the true answer to the mysteries which surround us.

It is because the church is the depository of this faith that it has endured the attacks and assaults of its enemies and the vicissitudes of nineteen centuries of varied civilization, in different climes and antagonistic forms of government, until today it is the only solid, unchanging thing in a changing world. It is the only sound and healthy thing in a society that is diseased and crumbling. The church is not here to be taught. It teaches. It does not minimize personal liberty and responsibility, it does not compromise and it does not mince matters, but speaks out plain and loud regardless of whom or what interest its speech may effect, yet with "malice towards none and with charity for all."

In the afternoon hundreds of the visitors inspected that magnificent structure which O'Neillites affectionately call "the convent" the formal name of which is St. Mary's Academy. The original building erected ten years ago at a cost of $80,000 has long been the admiration of strangers and the pride of our citizens. But what shall we say of the institution as it stands now with its $50,000 addition rapidly approaching completion? Truly it is a magnificent structure, and magnificent is the faith of the good sisters who have given it to our city, for strange as it may seem the erection of this great building has cost our city nothing. It is financed entirely by the Franciscan order of sisters.

In the morning the church looked very beautiful but in the evening it was indeed a most beautiful sight with its numerous lights and candles. Promptly at seven o'clock the evening services began; the Bishops, priests and altar boys filed out onto the altar and took their places. The rosary of the Blessed Virgin was recited after which Bishop Keane of Cheyenne delivered an eloquent and uplifting sermon. Solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, which was a very imposing ceremony, closed the day's services in the new St. Patrick's church.

THE BANQUET.

The day events were brought to a close by a banquet at the K. of C. hall at nine o'clock in the evening which was tendered to the distinguished visitors by the people of St. Patrick's people of O'Neill that they should now do something for him and before long should build him a residence in harmony with the beautiful church on the one hand and the magnificent academy on the other, a sentiment which was warmly applauded by the audience.

The next speaker was T. V. Golden who expressed his approval of all that had been said by Mr. Harrington but also thought that, since the people of O'Neill have demonstrated their ability to do big things and as the town is badly in need of a hotel building where to entertain the traveling public and the distinguished guests who from time to time visit our city we should put our heads and shoulders together and accomplish the erection of a hotel building in consonance with our other institutions.
